

Subject: Chat with Dan COLLINS

From: Dan COLLINS <vermontaigne@gmail.com>

To: barriticus@gmail.com me: what would be your main objection/point regarding my take on McCain?

me: let me ask you this

me: saw your recent posts

me: howdy

me: let me know when you get a moment, por favor me: but that seems more like good advice than criticism, even if it's implied criticism; is there a specific piece of my case against McCain that you feel is weak?

me: Thanks

Dan: Stick to what makes your case without having to reach for an interpretation. Don't overstate your position. Let your evidence be more damning than your construction of the evidence. And always keep a big stick in reserve.